Long-time breeder of registered miniature donkeys pens collection of nine true short stories that reveal just how similar donkeys are to mischievous children.

T. W. Krueger has a special place in his heart for mischief makers, whether they are children or miniature donkeys. In fact, as his new collection of short stories demonstrates, when it comes to trouble, children and donkeys actually have a lot in common.

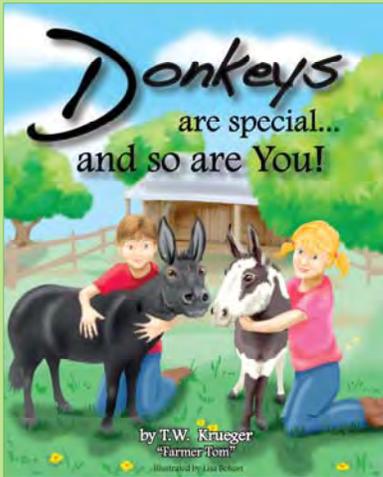

The nine colorfully illustrated short stories for children that make up Donkeys Are Special and So Are You! all take place on Brayfields Farm in Odessa, Florida, and it's uncanny how the mistakes these little donkeys make are so reminiscent of the mistakes made by human children.

From Marcy May, whose energetic ways sometimes get her into unexpected situations, to Tori, a sweet little donkey who has developed bad manners at mealtimes, to Prince Charming, who has a hard time resisting temptation, Donkeys Are Special and So Are You! introduces readers to a variety of characters whose colorful personalities make them instantly memorable and very easy to identify with.

Krueger comments, "I enjoy doing public service work with our donkeys, and this collection of stories about real donkeys demonstrates how both donkeys and children make mistakes, how both learn from their mistakes, and how both are very special!"

Donkeys Are Special and So Are You! received a Children's Book Honorable Mention at the 2013 New York Book Festival. It is also a Silver recipient of the prestigious Moms Choice Awards® and has also won two silver medallions at the Florida Authors & Publishers Annual Conference held in Daytona Beach.

AUTHOR: Born in Michigan and raised on a working farm, T. W. Krueger developed his love and appreciation for animals at any early age. As a young adult, he managed to run a successful business as well as his farming operation, breeding Registered Polled Herford cattle. Along with his wife Pat, he raised five sons. In 1978, T. W. relocated his family to Florida, where he continued his business ventures until his semi-retirement in 2007, at which time he had the opportunity to return to working with animals. As a result, Brayfields Miniature Donkey farm was created.
